

Ellen G. White
Treatment Of Erring Pupils
In Sabbath School

1 God has given us a revelation disclosing to us divine acquirements.
2 The Lord has presented our duties before us in relation to Himself 3 and to our fellow men. None of us are excusable in following our 4 own way, choosing our own course of action, for God's will and 5 God's way have been presented to us in clear light. We are to 6 represent the character of Christ to sever from us every 7 disposition, every trait of character that, if cherished, would 8 make us an influence to lead souls away from Christ in place of 9 leading them to Him. As the Bible is a revelation of the will God to 10 man, we should earnestly study that we may know what is truth and 11 how to practice it. {Ms43-1892.1}

12 In Sabbath school work we shall be called upon to deal with 13 those who make mistakes, who fall into sin and error. Christ has 14 given us lessons in His Word that are very plain in regard to the 15 treatment of the erring, but many have failed to practice these 16 lessons. They have not been studied and treasured in the heart
17 so that the Holy Spirit could enlighten the darkened 18 understanding and melt and break the stony heart of both 19 teacher and pupil. The Holy Spirit will make the heart sensitive, 20 sympathetic, and rid it of pride and selfishness. {Ms43-1892.2}

21 Pupils in Sabbath school are liable to annoy the teacher by their 22 misconduct. But the teacher must not speak sharp words and 23 manifest an uncontrolled spirit, for in so doing he will not be 24 using the sword of the Spirit, but the weapons of Satan.
25 Although the misconduct of the scholar is trying, although the 26 evil must be corrected, the rules observed, and justice respected
27 yet let the teacher keep the way of the Lord and mingle mercy
28 with justice. Let him look to the cross of Calvary, beholding there 29 how mercy and truth have met together, how righteousness and 30 peace have kissed each other. There, through the divine sacrifice, 31 man may be reconciled to God. {Ms43-1892.3}

32 In contemplating the love of Christ, your heart will be softened
33 to deal with the youth as with younger members of the Lord's 34 family. You will remember that they are Christ's property, and 35 your disposition will be to deal with them after the manner in 36 which Christ has dealt with you. {Ms43-1892.4}

37 Harsh dealing will never help the youth to see his errors, or aid
38 him to reform. Let the rules and regulations of the school be carried 39 out in the spirit of Jesus, and when reproof must be given, let this 40 disagreeable work be done with sorrow blended with love. Do 41 not feel that it is your work to openly rebuke the pupil and thus 42 humiliate him before the whole school. This will not be a proper 43 example to set before the children, for it will be a seed that will 44 bear a like harvest. {Ms43-1892.5}

45 Never publish the errors of any pupil outside the circle in which 46 they must be known, for, in this way, sympathy will not be 47 created for the wrongdoer by leaving an impression on the mind 48 that he has been dealt with unjustly. By pursuing a course of 49 exposing the wrongdoer, he may be thrown upon Satan's
50 battlefield and from that moment go steadily downward. Christ
51 bears long with us, and we must be Christlike. He does not cut us off 52 because of our errors, but reproves in tenderness and draws us by 53 love close to Himself. {Ms43-1892.6}

54 If teachers see that it is impossible to bring a student under 55 discipline of the class, let him be removed to another class, for it 56 may be that another teacher may be able to supply the deficiency.
57 What one teacher lacks, another may possess; but if you can obtain 58 the confidence of the youth and bind him to your heart through 59 CORDS OF SYMPATHY AND LOVE, you may win a soul to Christ. The 60 wayward, self-willed independent boy may become transformed in 61 character. {Ms43-1892.7}

62 But while it is necessary to manifest love and sympathy for your 63 pupils, it is a manifest weakness to show partiality and thus 64 arouse suspicion and jealousy. Children are quick to discern the 65 preferences of the teacher, and the favored student often 66 measures his strength, his aptness, in skill with that of the 67 teacher in the management of the class. He may decide to be 68 master; and unless the teacher has the grace of Christ, he will 69 manifest weakness, become impatient, exacting, and 70 severe. {Ms43-1892.8}

71 The leading spirit of the class will generally impart his purpose 72 to other students, and there will be a combined effort to obtain 73 the mastery. If the teacher, through the grace of Christ, is self- 74 controlled and holds the lines with a steady, patient hand, he will

75 quell the boisterous element, keep his self-respect, and command 76 the respect of his students. When once order is restored, let 77 kindness, gentleness, and affection be manifested. {Ms43-1892.9}

78 It may be that rebellion will rise again and again, but let not the 79 hasty temper appear. Do not speak sharply to the evil doer, and 80 discourage a soul who is struggling with the power of darkness.
81 Be still, and let your heart ascend in prayer to God for help.
82 Angels will come close to your side and help you lift up the standard 83 against the enemy, and instead of cutting off the erring one, you may 84 be enabled to gain a soul for Christ. {Ms43-1892.10}

85 Let the teachers feel, that whatever the character of the class, they 86 must meet it in the spirit of Jesus. Do not meet combativeness
87 with combativeness. You will have to meet willfulness,
88 stubbornness, indolence, and frivolity; but under all emergencies
89 manifest kindness and love. By patience and self-control keep 90 your hold upon your pupils' affection, and let them have reason 91 to know that your whole desire is to do them good. Show your 92 scholars that you have confidence in them. Visit them at their 93 homes, and invite them to your home. Let it be seen that you
94 love them not only in word, but in deed and in truth. {Ms43-
95 1892.11}

96 The teacher need lay no special claims to dignity, since he can 97 gain the respect of his pupils in no other way than by a 98 Christlike deportment, in manifesting kindness and Christian
99 courtesy. The teacher is to educate the pupils as Christ educated 100 His disciples. He must make impressions that time cannot efface.
101 His influence should mold his scholars after the divine Pattern, and 102 if he does this, eternity alone can tell the value of his labor. The 103 teacher must awaken in his pupils the moral nature and inspire in 104 them a desire to respond to the divine agencies. {Ms43-1892.12}

105 Those who are selfish, peevish, dictatorial, coarse, and rough, 106 who do not carefully regard the feelings of others, should never 107 be employed as teachers. They will have a disastrous influence
108 upon their students, molding them after their own character, 109 thus perpetuating evil. Persons of this character will make an 110 effort [to] break a boy's will if he is unruly, but Christ has 111 authorized no such message of dealing with the erring. Through 112 heavenly wisdom, through meekness and lowliness of heart, 113 teachers may be able to direct the will and lead in the way of 114 obedience; but let no one imagine that, by threatening, the 115 affection of the student may be gained. We must work as Christ
116 has worked. {Ms43-1892.13}

117 Many underestimate the evil of an error in themselves who fully 118 recognize its influence in another. On every side we meet those 119 who are entirely ignorant of possessing characteristics which 120 need to be modified. Others can see their objectionable traits of 121 character; but when they are reproved, they imagine that they 122 have been misjudged. The teacher should closely examine his 123 own heart in the light of eternity, that he may represent before
124 his pupils that which he desires them to be. He should be a daily 125 learner in the school of Christ, abiding in Christ as the branch abides 126 in the vine, that he may impart to others that which he has received 127 from Christ. {Ms43-1892.14}

128 The teacher who would bring his students under discipline must 129 himself first come under the control of Christ. Jesus has said, “He 130 that followeth me shall not walk in darkness, but shall have the light 131 of life.” [John 8:12.] With divine enlightenment you can work as 132 Christ worked, for His light may shine through you upon the 133 pathway of every impenitent transgressor with whom you are 134 associated. {Ms43-1892.15}

135 Are you indeed an instructor in the ways of God? If you are a 136 converted teacher, you will be able to win, not drive, to attract,
137 not repulse, the souls for whom Christ has died. You will guard
138 and care for the sheep and lambs of Christ’s fold. If they stray, you 139 will not leave them to perish, but will go forth to seek and to save 140 that which is lost. All heaven will be ready to aid you in this good
141 work. {Ms43-1892.16}

142 The angels will aid you in your effort to find the key to the heart
143 of the most incorrigible and unruly. You will receive special
144 grace and strength through Christ who is able to supply you 145 from His immeasurable fullness. You will then be qualified to be 146 a laborer together with God, one with Christ in your effort to save 147 the lost, and your labor of love will be seen not only in time, but 148 through all eternity. {Ms43-1892.17}
